To Whom it May Concern

I have known Syd for over six years, he had supplied and supported the computer system at a Building company where I was working at the time and I had become very impressed with his knowledge and the service he provided. Years later and now at Hydraulic Controls, a manufacturing company, Syd was my first choice when looking to a complete upgrade of our systems hardware and software, this includes a server, 16 workstations, CAD computers, lap tops, tuff pads, printers, routers and so on. Syd specified and supplied the hardware that would meet the business requirements, installed and set it up with operational security and cyber security to give us as much protection as possible. Following the installation, we have engaged ComputerWerx Support to monitor and maintain our system which has provided us with a continuing and flawless operation.

I find Syd to be very knowledgeable and up to date with the industry, he is very supportive and available and together with his good humour is very good to work with, I have no hesitation in recommending him, he is a professional.

Yours faithfully
